It is easy to see now where President Roosevelt stands on the trusts and railroads since they are fighting him openly.

President Roosevelt is being severely criticized at present by numerous persons, most of whom are seeking favors or have private grievances.

Isn't it rather strange that Saline (the wealthiest agricultural county in Missouri as shown by the state records) should be "broke" at this time of the year, and not only that, many bills have been standing about six months unpaid. This state of affairs compels the county to take what is offered at any old price and is no way of doing business. What inducement is there for a good road boss to do effective work at a fair price if the pay is held back a year? Instead the county gets poor service at a high price.

The Republican party of St. Louis can not successfully carry a collection of discredited politicians. A class of this kind can accomplish nothing for themselves, though they are certain to injure the party as far as it is identified with them and their unsatisfactory records. An incubus of this variety is a boon to the opposition and a handicap to what he calls his own side. Politicians with an unsavory reputation may seek to be vindicated, but they put a party that indulges them at a disadvantage. It is essential for the Republicans of St. Louis, who have just lost an election on account of an element of this nature, to send it to the rear, unless the experience of Tuesday is to be repeated in spite of having the most votes and the best prospects.—Globe Democrat.

St. Louis Republicans have just had another good lesson in the loss of the city election. Anyone familiar with St. Louis politics could have foretold as much, as the ticket was "loaded" with some poor material. The Democratic ticket was even worse, but the Republicans of that city are not of the "yellow dog" variety and resent an imposition. The political bosses pack the conventions with their friends and these conventions do not express the people's sentiment. In fact, thousands of good citizens are either afraid to attend the meetings or do not care to be insulted or run over by the element that predominates and makes all the noise.

If the Republicans of St. Louis want to get their just dues they must adopt a new method. A good way to get at proper nominations would be for the city committee to recommend a carefully selected list of candidates, representing all the various interests and factions and then instead of a convention, take a vote, with numerous polling places, the largest vote for each place securing the nomination. This would apply to all cities.

Out of Sight

"Out of sight, out of mind" is an old saying which applies with special force to a sore, burn or wound that's been treated with Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It's out of sight, out of mind and out of existence. Piles too and chilblains disappear under its healing influence. Guaranteed by P. H. Franklin Druggist, 25c.

THREE YEARS IN THE PEN

Is the Verdict of the Jury in the H. W. Salmon Case.

Harvey W. Salmon, for years one of the most prominent Democrats in the State, ex-State treasurer and the senior member of the banking firm of Salmon & Salmon, has been on trial in the circuit court at this place for the past week, charged with grand larceny, in connection with the failure of the Salmon & Salmon bank at Clinton, Mo., on June 20, 1905, which brought financial ruin to the 1500 depositors, and paralyzed the business interests of Clinton to such an extent that it has not yet fully recovered. The case was a hard fought one, and some of the best legal talent in the state was represented on both sides.

The case has attracted the attention of the entire state, owing to the prominence of the defendant, and many of the most prominent Democrats in the state have been here to testify and lend all aid possible to their former leader, who has been caught in the coils of the law, notably among them Sam B. Cook, ex-secretary of state; Moses C. Wetmore, the millionaire tobacco manufacturer of St. Louis.

The evidence showed that the Salmon & Salmon bank for many years had been insolvent and that every effort was made to tide it over from time to time until the final crash came, causing misery and poverty to supplant itself in many formerly luxurious homes in Henry county. The failure was due to bad speculation by the proprietors of the bank who, at the time, no doubt thought their investments safe, but when they discovered that they had erred in their judgement they sought to tide the failing bank over through bogus securities and other means and continued to accept the deposits of their friends and neighbors, who had all the confidence in the world in them, believing that the bank was one of the most solid financial institutions in the state.

The defense claimed that they had no knowledge of the insolvency of the bank as the manager, Tom Casey, deceived them with false reports by forging notes and claiming that they were genuine, but the state refuted this evidence by showing the bank was insolvent before Casey took charge of it, by means of letters from the secretary of state to Salmon & Salmon and also by the testimony of C. A. Crome, wholesale grocer of Clinton and Mr. Oldham, ex-chink examiner, who were that they had notified H. W. Salmon of the condition of his
